

LEAGUE COUNCIL PREPARING FOR ASSEMBLY MEETING

Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo of China Presiding at Gathering at Suggestion of Brazilian Delegate.

COMMISSIONS ARE COMPLETING REPORTS

Members of Disarmament Body to Hold Their Final Session and Finish Findings Tomorrow.

By the Associated Press. GENEVA, Aug. 30.—Preparations for the work to be done by the Assembly of the League of Nations began by the Council of the League at the regular session this morning. Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo of China was the presiding officer of today's meeting, it having been decided yesterday that Dr. Koo would act as president at the regular meetings of the Council, and that Viscount Ishii should be in the chair when the Silesian problem is considered in extraordinary session.

Commissioners which have been studying matters concerning health and other technical problems under the auspices of the league were completing their reports, which will be submitted to the assembly tomorrow. The Disarmament Commission, and the commission on amendments to the covenant of the league, will begin their final sessions tomorrow.

Silesia Question Accepted. The Council accepted the task of solving the questions of the disposition of Upper Silesia yesterday. Viscount Ishii, as president of the Council, so informed Premier Briand of France after the session.

Discussion of the subject, however, will not be started before Thursday, the councilors meantime studying the voluminous documents of the tangled case. Whether Germany and Poland will be invited to send representatives to present their claims and explain the cases to the council is to be decided Thursday.

The question of the presiding officer was raised by the Brazilian representative, Dr. Gaston da Cunha, who suggested that the subject be ordinary and regular sessions of the council would coincide Dr. Koo be given the presidency for the regular session.

Arthur J. Balfour, representing Great Britain, pointed out that "the case was exceptional and justified exceptional procedure," and it was agreed that Dr. Koo should preside over the irregular sessions with Viscount Ishii assuming the office during the Silesian discussions.

Elated Over Court Prospects. League circles are much elated over the prospects of the early convening of the International Court of Justice, as 23 states, three more than the number required to put the court into effect, have ratified the project. Hence, the 11 judges of the court will be elected by the forthcoming meeting of the Assembly.

Ninety candidates thus far have been named, among them is former President Poincaré of France, nominated by Portugal. As soon as convenient after the election the court will be convened. The Hague is confidently expected here that one or more Americans will be on the bench.

The election of Elihu Root is looked upon as a foregone conclusion if he allows his name to go before the assembly.

Otherwise the election of one of the other three Americans nominated is most likely.

Albanian Delegates Arrive. The Albanian delegation to the assembly of the league already has arrived here and has announced its intention to appeal to the assembly from the decision of the council in respect to Albania's complaints against Greece and Yugoslavia. This question promises to enliven the proceedings of the assembly.

Some of the smaller Powers have announced their intention of protesting on the floor of the assembly against the predominance of British on the staff of the secretariat of the league. They will ask for representation on the staff in proportion to their participation in the expenses.

Final Agreement Reached on Boundaries of Albania.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—Final agreement has been reached by Great Britain, France and Italy upon all questions affecting the boundaries of Albania, according to official information received yesterday by A. Chekrel, Commissioner of Albania to the United States. The agreement, Mr. Chekrel announced, reaffirms the frontiers of 1913 as determined by the ambassadorial conference of London and definitely assigns to Albania the provinces of Koritza and Argyrocastro, which were claimed by Greece as well as territories to the north claimed by Serbia.

The decision of the three Powers probably will be followed by the resumption of diplomatic relations, the commissioner said. He called at the State Department yesterday to inform the United States Government officially of the agreement.

DEMOCRACY COMING TO RULE WORLD, ROOT SAYS

Former Secretary Tells Lawyers Aiding Such Rule Is Highest Service They Can Perform.

By the Associated Press. CINCINNATI, Aug. 30.—Declaring that public opinion required institutions for its expression, Elihu Root, former Secretary of State, told delegates to the American Bar Association convention today that aiding the rule of democracy was the highest public service which the legal fraternity could perform.

Root, together with many prominent barristers from all parts of the country, began discussion of the means of furthering respect for the law and extending the influence of the American Bar Association. "Let no one think that these meetings are perfunctory," Root said, "like our own country, the whole world is coming under the rule of democracy—and democracy depends on enlightened public opinion. The people, in each country, rule the world today."

"Public opinion requires institutions for its expression. Otherwise it is dissipated in thin air like the angry murmurs of a mob which lead to nothing but indiscriminate violence. In aiding the formation of public opinion, the bar is doing the highest public good."

A. F. L. TO CAMPAIGN FOR 5,000,000 MEMBERS

Council Declares Hostility of Unfair Employers Has Strengthened Movement.

By the Associated Press. ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 30.—A campaign of the American Federation of Labor for a membership of 5,000,000 will be launched on Labor day, the federation's executive council announced today.

President Samuel Gompers has issued an appeal to labor throughout the country to rally on Labor day in public gatherings for "inspiring public addresses and distribution of literature of our movement." The campaign has been ordered by the council because of the recent slump in membership of the federation due to unemployment.

The open shop campaign and the "negative hostility of unfair employers" has strengthened rather than weakened the solidarity of the organized labor movement, it was declared in a statement last night by the executive council of the federation.

Besides calling upon President Harding and his cabinet to take steps to bring about recognition of the Republic of Ireland and urging the Government to protest to Great Britain against brutal and unprovoked warfare in Ireland, the council was instructed by the Denver convention to send a special communication to Premier Lloyd George, his cabinet and members of Parliament, setting forth the views of American labor and protesting against the "campaign of violence and destruction in Ireland."

SOVIETS WOULD MORTGAGE RUSSIA FOR $50,000,000

Offer Made to Fridtjof Nansen, Who Is Trying to Raise Money for Famine Relief Work.

BACKED BY ALL
ASSETS OF COUNTRY

It is Understood That It Also Has Been Agreed to Consider Recognition of Old Debts Later.

By the Associated Press.
RIGA, Aug. 26.—The soviet authorities have offered Fridtjof Nansen a first mortgage backed by all the Russian assets, as security for the $50,000,000 (normally $50,000,000) loan which he is trying to raise among the European Governments for famine relief work in Russia. It is understood that it also has been agreed to take up later the question of recognition of the old Russian debts.

Dr. Nansen declared he was impressed by the earnest desire of the soviet government to devote its full energies to overcoming the present distress. He urged that the Governments of Europe come forward and take a full part in united action to mitigate the misery which, he said, was affecting no less than 25,000,000 Russians in the Volga region.

Nansen is going to Paris to endeavor to raise $10,000,000 in the form of European Government loans to aid in the famine relief.

A Moscow message to the Latvian Telegraph Agency says the soviet government has dissolved the non-partisan Russian Relief Committee because it refused to adhere to the decision of the government of Aug. 15, which ordered Gorky's committee not to go abroad, but to proceed to the famine area.

low those of prewar days, he added. Many of the 7,000,000 persons living in districts where crops proved absolute failures began migrating to Turkestan and Siberia weeks ago, but this migration has been stopped by a Government shipment of 550,000 pounds (216,000 bushels) of seed grain and the assurance that more seed would be supplied in order to insure next year's crops. Kamenef said that only about 200,000 persons actually migrated and that this movement now was negligible.

CHARGE AGAINST REAL ESTATE COMPANY FILED WITH EXCHANGE

A meeting of property owners in the 4500 and 4600 blocks on Lucky street has been called for 8 o'clock tonight at 4522 Easton avenue, to organize against the sale of property in those blocks to negroes and to protest to the Real Estate Exchange against the recent sale of the flat at 4525 Lucky to a negro.

Charges against the Remsbecher-Mehrken-Ottens Real Estate Co., 2895 South Broadway, for making this sale, have been filed with the Real Estate Exchange by George Schemel of the Schemel Realty Co., 4915 Easton avenue, and the former company has been cited to appear before a committee of the Exchange Friday. Exchange members are not permitted to sell property to negroes in a white block.

The Lucky street flat was sold to James White, a negro janitor, who now occupies it with his family. Frederick A. Mehrken of the Remsbecher-Mehrken-Ottens Co., said his company sold the property to a white man and not to the present owner.

TREATY LEAVES DOOR TO LEAGUE STILL OPEN TO U. S.

Did Irreconcilables Miss a Point in U. S.-German Pact or Did Hughes Outwit Anti-Leagues? Question Asked.

PERMISSIVE CLAUSES BROADLY PHRASED

Would Permit a President or Secretary of State to Go Into League Without Reference to Senate, It Is Declared.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE, A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—Is there a joker in the Hughes-Knox treaty just signed between the United States and Germany? The question is being asked by many who have closely studied the text of the document and discovered that the United States has not closed the door to possible membership in the League of Nations after all and that at any moment the executive branch of our Government can consent to be bound by the covenant without the consent of the Senate or Congress.

The joker is contained in article two of the new treaty which contains permissive clauses so broadly phrased as to permit a President or Secretary of State to bring the United States into the League without even referring the matter to Congress.

The Senate once before foresaw such a possibility and in the original Lodge reservations to the Versailles pact the Senate "irreconcilables" used language that would have prohibited the executive from assuming any obligations under the League covenant without the express consent of Congress.

The Lodge reservations also prohibited any American citizen from ever serving the League and forbade American participation in any commission of the League without the consent of Congress. The opponents of the Lodge reservations insisted that such a viewpoint was inconsistent with the Constitution which gives the executive broad powers to deal with foreign Governments, but in the heat of the controversy the objections went unheeded.

Future Membership. Now, however, when the final word is being said about our treaty relations with Germany, no prohibition against future membership in the League or any of its commissions is made. The two important paragraphs of the new treaty bearing on this point read as follows:

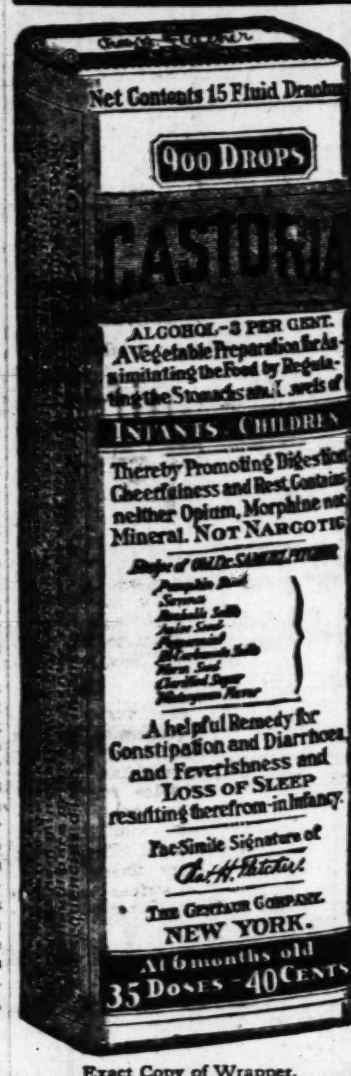

"That the United States shall not be bound by the provisions of part one of that treaty (covenant of the League of Nations in Versailles treaty), nor by any provisions of that treaty which relate to the covenant of the League of Nations, nor shall the United States be bound by any action taken by the League of Nations or by the council or by the assembly thereof unless the United States shall expressly give its assent to such action."

"That while the United States is privileged to participate in the repatriation of commissions according to the terms of part eight of that treaty, and in any other commission established under the treaty (of Versailles) or any agreement supplemental thereto, the United States is not bound to participate in any such commission unless it shall elect to do so."

The above provisions make it clear that the United States isn't "bound" by the covenant unless it gives its consent. The council of the League of Nations operates anyway under rules requiring unanimous agreement, so America could not be bound anyway unless she gave her consent. But the phrase "unless the United States shall expressly give its consent to such action," significantly omits reference to Congress as was insisted upon so specifically in the Lodge reservations. And the words "United States" have always been interpreted to mean the President or Secretary of State unless a treaty were being negotiated.

Chair Remains Vacant. The signatories of the original Versailles pact designated the United States as a charter member of the council of the League of Nations. The chair has remained vacant. America can send her official or unofficial representative to attend council meetings any time she wishes to do so. The Senate could interpose no objection, for after all the Powers of the executive to commit the United States to the use of military or naval force are limited by the Constitution. On the other hand, in view of the delicate situation in the United States Senate today as between pro-leaguers and anti-leaguers, Congress about it.

Either the "irreconcilables" missed a point or Secretary Hughes, with a long look ahead, outwitted the anti-leaguers. It is too late for the foes of the league to ask for amendments to the Hughes-Knox treaty for this administration, like its predecessor, intends to insist that the document be accepted as signed by the executive branch of the Government without the crossing of a "Y" or the dotting of an "I." Ratification will be a difficult enough task in the Reichstag without opening the new treaty to amendments. The friends of the league are satisfied—the door has not been closed on ultimate membership of the United States in the League of Nations.

29 PRISONERS TO BE RELEASED AT LEAVENWORTH ON PAROLE

Consignment One of Largest to Be Freed at One Time in History of Penitentiary.

By the Associated Press.
LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Aug. 26. One of the largest consignments of prisoners ever released on parole at one time from the Federal penitentiary here will leave the institution within a few days, it was announced last night by Warden W. I. Biddle. The announcement followed receipt of a telegram from H. H. Votaw, superintendent of prisons, who informed the Warden of approval of 29 paroles. The prisoners will be released immediately upon the arrival of the proper papers. James P. Nolan, former lieutenant in the air service of the United States army, is one of the 29. Nolan, who was received Dec. 15, 1920, had been serving a two-year sentence for embezzlement. Nolan now is a tubercular patient in the prison hospital, but will be able to leave the institution, according to Warden Biddle.

Albert Mansfield, chief clerk in the Warden's office, also is included in the list of prisoners recommended and approved for conditional freedom. Mansfield, who was an active Y. M. C. A. worker serving in Europe during the world war was serving a term of five years. He was convicted on a charge of embezzlement.

ORPHEUM IS OPENED WITH GOOD HOUSES

Old Favorites and New Aspirants Warmly Welcomed by "Big Time" Regulars.

The "big time" vaudeville season has been put off to a good start at the Orpheum yesterday when two large audiences, hungry for that sort of diversion, extracted much entertainment from the opening bill, despite the discomfort of humid weather.

Old favorites and newcomers in the field vied with each other for the limelight. Nat Nazario and his company were featured on the program. Their act had not proceeded when it became apparent that the quality of the act was of the "Buck" and "Bubbles" type, two negro youths whose heavy make-up, ragtime singing, dancing, and mannerisms evoked much applause.

Of the old-time favorites on the bill, the heartiest welcome was accorded to Lyons and Yosco, that pair of entertainers, one of whom plays the harp as no one else in vaudeville can play it, while the other has a rich natural baritone voice, peculiarly adapted to the singing of sentimental ballads. These arrangements are supplemented by their excellent work in their assumed characters of strolling Italian musicians. Also hailed with delight at the opening of a new season was that humble and ingratiating xylophone player, Edgar Friscoe, whose turn in enlivened by the plaint demands of carefully planted persons in the audience that he play certain selections.

Dolly Kay, a young woman with most assertive personality sings syncope songs in her own peculiar way. It is a rather disquieting way, but syncope has many devotees these days and it "gets over."

Lewis Nilsen and his company have a well-acted sketch of rather light dramatic content called "Summer Time." Cliff Nazario and the Darling Sisters have a frankly juvenile but fairly amusing turn of song and dance. The Tussano brothers are venturesome ax throwers, and

Bradley and Ardine are nimble dancers.

The theater has a new orchestra.

Pastor's Anniversary Celebrated.
The Rev. Edward L. Bleibtreu, pastor of the Carondelet Evangelical Church, 7423 Michigan avenue, was given a surprise by his congregation Sunday night in recognition of his twenty-fifth anniversary as pastor. Congratulatory speeches were made by other pastors and a sum of money was given to him. After the ceremonies a reception was held at the school hall and on the lawn. The pastor has recently returned from a vacation of seven weeks, which he spent in Colorado.

HAYS COMING HERE AS A HARMONIZER

Postmaster-General Will Try to Compose Differences Between Selph and Employees.

By the Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—While in St. Louis Sept. 5 to address a national convention of letter carriers, Postmaster-General Hays will take a personal examination of conditions in the St. Louis Postoffice, which are now the subject of an inquiry by two Postoffice Inspectors.

Hays is expected on good authority, will enter the St. Louis office in the role of harmonizer as well as humanizer in an effort to compose the differences out of which have grown charges against Postmaster Selph by a group of former employees. After his return to Washington a statement will be issued which it is hoped by postal authorities will put an end to friction in the St. Louis office. The view is taken here that there is now less ground than formerly for complaints against the alleged overbearing attitude of Postmaster Selph in his dealings with employees. The report by the inspectors now in St. Louis, it is understood, will go thoroughly into the charges against Selph, but will note an improvement in conditions.

There is manifest no present disposition on the part of the Postoffice Department to disarrange the work of the St. Louis office by a change of Postmasters prior to the expiration of Selph's term. His commission expires Jan. 17.

Postmaster-General Hays said today that he did not call any recent letter to him from the Postal Reform Association asking what he purposed to do regarding the charges against Selph, but that if any such letter he would reply that it would receive the serious attention which it merited.

It is reported here that Postmaster Selph will soon receive instructions to reinstate some employees whom he had dismissed.

NOTE: To every laundress in St. Louis—Ask the woman of the house for a package of the wonderful new product for home washing. Remember the name—Rinso.

Can you imagine a man wearing his life away at a wash board

Of course not.

Men refuse to do work in a hard, tiresome way when there is a quick, better way to do it.

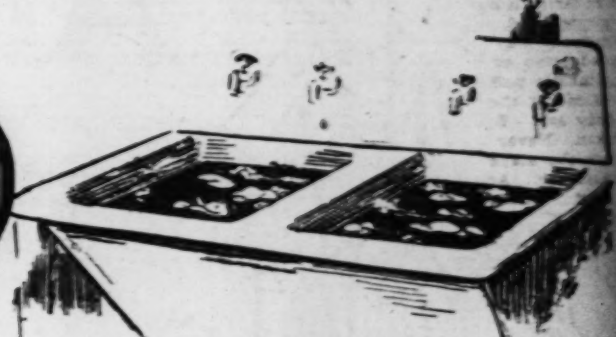

More and more, women are following their lead. They are learning short cuts that give them time and energy to do the things they really want to do. Today hundreds of thousands of women are saving themselves the utter exhaustion of wash day by letting Rinso soak their clothes clean.

Rinso is a new soap product that loosens and dissolves dirt from even the heaviest and worst soiled pieces of the weekly wash without injuring a single fabric.

OFFICER COURT-MARTIALED FOR REFUSAL TO COMMAND SHIP

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, Aug. 23.—Charges against Lieut. George Marvell, U. S. N., of conduct prejudicial to good order and naval discipline, based upon his alleged refusal to make a trip from New London to Hampton Roads and return as commander of the O-4, were tried before a general court-martial at the navy yard yesterday.

Marvell, on April 25 last, while in command of the submarine O-9 at the New London base, was ordered to take temporary command of the O-4 for a voyage to Hampton Roads. He protested, it is charged, because of the condition of the O-4's engines. After these had been repaired he still protested against the order, according to the allegations. Another officer was given command and made the trip without incident.

A letter which Marvell is alleged to have sent to naval officials in which he expressed the opinion that no military necessity existed for ordering him to make the trip in command of the O-4 was submitted to the court.

Senator France Traces Steps in Collapse of Russia's Extreme Communist Experiment lays Russian Peasantry. Now in Possession of Land Will Never Relinquish It. Capitalistic Principles Re-Adopted.

BY JOSEPH IRWIN FRANCE, Senator from Maryland Who Has Just Returned from Russia.

(Copyright, 1921.)
MOSCOW, Aug. 2.—The only bad about lofty ideals is the difficulty of getting them to function.
There was nothing wrong with the theory of the communists state, where all men should work genuinely for the good of all without hope of special selfish reward in money or goods or power.
The only error was in the practice.
It would not work; at any event it did not work in Russia.

The extreme communists offer various explanations. The blockade, the industrial prostration which existed in many places as a result of the war, the antagonism of conservative elements in those countries, the impotence of the communist elements in those countries, and half a dozen other reasons are offered. Then it is calmly stated these same extremists that as soon as communist Russia has been back on its industrial feet (by the aid of capitalist countries, be it said), there will be prompt and resumption of the effort to abolish these capitalistic governmental institutions.

Incidence of Extremists.
The incidence of these extremists, who are not prominent in Russia, is that makes it so difficult to arouse sympathy. Even the good Samaritan could hardly have bound up his wounds and aided him mandantly if he had expected his other to exterminate him immediately on recovery.

I am unperturbed, however, for I am convinced that extreme communism, at least so far as Russia's recent experience is concerned, is over. The human extremists may shout that the present adoption of tried, conservative capitalistic policies is only temporary. Some of them may believe what they say. But they are mistaken. Never will they be able to retrace the steps taken this spring and summer. And so when they talk about "sitting on a few hours, when they regain their strength, they are merely talking nonsense. It will not be done, because peasant Russia, now in possession of the land, is for that reason conservative and will never submit a reversion to the economic conditions of 1917-20.

Momentous Changes of 1921.
Let me trace in sequence the momentous changes of 1921, which have not been appreciated until it came to pass and saw the results.
The total collapse of Russia's experiment in extreme communism began on March 25, 1921. On that day the Council of People's Commissars announced the decree of "tax in kind" as a substitute for the seizure of grain; on the same day was announced the decree permitting free trade in personal use, not for resale; the prohibition portion of which has been ignored. Here, then, a single day were officially abandoned the fundamentals of communism. No longer is there denial of the right of the individual to the very existence of a graded recognition of property value, property holding, relative values as becomes large and small properties, the right of the individual to receive, after his own expenses and the payment of taxes, the fruit of his labor—that is, profit.

It is interesting to note the rapidity with which this abandonment of the principle on which communism was founded was succeeded by a reverting overboard of related principles and the formal re adoption of wholly antagonistic principles. On April 9 the co-operative establishments throughout Russia are reopened, although a year before "communist principle" had compelled restriction, which meant their actual extinction. Then comes the decree which reassures the peasants that the land distributed among them (whether by earlier purchase or following confiscation of the large estates) would remain their individual possession for a guaranteed period of years. This actually is permanent, and everyone knows it.

Here then is recognition of the right to profit not only from a day's work, but from possession of property.

Next in the chronology of "communist principle" is to gratify the peasantry, 100,000,000 strong, whose support Lenin was wise enough to see his Government must have if it is to persist. But now communism begins to scuttle other vital principles affecting not the peasant, but the city worker. On April 9 appears the decree granting extra pay to workmen who produce large amounts, which is precisely what the communists used to call "slave driving" when it was done by the hated capitalist employer. It is a belated recognition that the human being is most likely to work his best when he himself, directly, as well as his fellow man generally, is to benefit.

Then comes the right of the workingman to find his own job instead of being ordered by his Government to work in a designated part of a designated factory. The workingman had found that he was not always pleased to have even a workers' government govern his personal affairs, and his protest compelled the concessions.

Money Is Restored.
Now in July comes one of the most extraordinary decrees, which formally permits the possession of money and its normal use, even its placing in bank, a direct admission of property right, profit, retention of unexpended wealth and accumulation of it—in fact, capitalism in its essence—will hereafter be recognized if not encouraged.

Certainly if communism Russia had been conquered by leading armies from capitalist lands, and those decrees had been enforced by alien power, there would have been the most frantic protests from communist workers over these decrees.
But the decrees were the voluntary work of the so-called proletarian dictatorship. The extreme communist says they are temporary and that communism will return later on.
Asked why it has to be abandoned even temporarily, he answers that plains that Russia is prostrate and cannot be revived except by capitalistic methods, a lucid explanation which raises new questions. The observer is likely to feel, for example, that if conservative methods are admittedly the only ones which can put Russia back on a sound basis, presumably conservative methods are most likely to succeed in keeping Russia there.

Russian Brains Exhausted.
After all, inhabitants of this world can judge the merit of principles only by observing their results when put in practice. Certainly the communist inherited a distressed country and a completely bewildered people, and all the resultant perplexities they had to meet with a discouraging lack of intellectuals, of experts in industry, of trained government officials, who could carry on the details of trade and government.
Indeed, the present high officials continually refer to their need of trained personnel and deplore the fact that 2,000,000 of the most effective Russians are now in foreign lands and not only are not helping the new government, but are making its path more difficult.

But the significant thing is that today—even admitting all the explanations—Russia under communism has not recovered as rapidly as have other countries under capitalism; and that, to save it from even greater disaster, the dictatorship has, of itself, swung "temporarily" toward conservatism and must hereafter swing still further.

Certain Russian industries may continue for a time to be operated by the Government. But the farms and this means more than half the population, will remain as frankly capitalistic and individualistic as is rural France today.

said that in his opinion the industrial and financial situation had "touched bottom" and hereafter would show improvement. He believed that industrial revival waited headly on two things, settlement with railroads and an adjustment of conditions in the building trades.

through the treaty of St. Germain, were attacked on Sunday night and the incident has caused great tension between Austria and Hungary. There are reports of other conflicts between Hungarian insurgents and Austrian soldiers along the frontier between the two countries.

It is understood that a protest has been made to the allied Powers by the Austrian Government. Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia are said to have taken a restraining attitude as a result of the conflict in Burgen-land.

The frontier between Austria and Hungary had stood for nearly 1000 years until it was changed by the treaty of St. Germain. Burgenland is full of ancient landmarks, great cloisters and churches, and many members of the Hungarian nobility own extensive estates there. The chief value of this region to Austria is from a strategic consideration.

If it is occupied by Austrian forces and comes within the jurisdiction of the Vienna Government, the eastern frontier of Austria would be placed beyond a ridge of low mountains which can be easily defended.

There are large forests in the district—Wieselberg, Altenberg, St. Gothard and Cims—which would remain under Hungarian control, and Odenburg, which would become Austrian.

Burgenland is noted for its vineyards, orchards and vegetable gardens and has a considerable livestock industry. It is not a grain producing region, however, and always has drawn its bread supply from Hungary.

West Hungary Evacuated by Austrian Forces.

BUDAPEST, Aug. 30.—West Hungary has been evacuated with the exception of the Podersdorf sector, which is being held as a pawn to guarantee Hungary's financial claims against Austria.

It is rumored here that after the withdrawal of the Hungarian troops irregular bands formed with a view of preventing Austrian occupation of the territory. The newspapers and the public in Budapest are completely in the dark as to what is occurring in West Hungary.

Hungarian Troops Meet Austrians
With Grenades and Machine Guns.
By the Associated Press.
VIENNA, Aug. 30.—The Austrians have met with resistance from the Hungarians in the occupation of Burgenland, the little strip of West Hungary awarded Austria by the peace treaty, according to reports reaching here.

Late Sunday night Lieut. Hejlas, one of the recalcitrant leaders in West Hungary, appeared, heading a large detachment of his irregular forces, seized the railway station at Odenburg and filled the streets with uniformed men armed with pistols.

One detachment of 170 men advanced to Pinkafeld, where they met with hand grenades and machine guns the Austrians who were coming in to take over the territory.

It is reported that Hejlas and the other Hungarian officers were in full uniform when the attack was made. There are conflicting reports concerning the casualties, but it is not believed they exceed 20. It is said allied officers marched with the Austrian troops when the attack was delivered by the Hungarians.

Combination of Circumstances Tending Strongly to Make of Mexico a Temperate Nation

Transition With No Legislation and No Conscientious Effort at Reform Interesting Study of Development of Race.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 17.—Circumstances are tending strongly to make Mexico a temperate nation. This seems strange; for not more than a decade ago it was one of the most intemperate. It appears almost impossible that the Mexican people should have changed so radically as they have in this respect in the past 10 years. Yet the causes are not far to seek.

In the latter days of the Diaz regime, the great native drink, pulque, was very cheap, a pall of it costing but a few cents. Long trains of pulque pulled into the capital every morning. This pulque was drunk by the poor at his meals, and during after work; and his chief delight was to spend his time in the gaudy-painted pulquerias (native drinking places). This pulque, too, entered the homes of the middle and even of the upper classes, where a meal was not complete without its jar of the national beverage.

Made From Century Plant.
The great haciendas of the upland plateaus of Mexico, for an extension of close upon 1000 miles, dedicated the best and the greater part of their cultivated lands to the growing of the maguey, or century plant, from the sap of which the native drink is made. It was an easy and profitable business this growing of pulque plants and the manufacture of the pulque itself. The maguey once planted, required practically no attention for the first seven or eight years. They did not fear the drought, which afflicts the uplands, and rain had no terrors for them. At the end of this time, when the magueys come into bearing, each plant was worth from $8 to $12 in pulque. With millions of plants on some of the larger haciendas, the pulque business became one of the most profitable and extensive in Mexico.

But times have changed. The revolution, which upset the stable order of society and withered the roots of all Mexican industries, laid an all-compelling hand upon the great maguey plantations and the pulque business. The agrarian commission forced the subdivision of the larger maguey plantations, and the plants were uprooted to make way for patches of corn, beans, melons, chile beans and other native products. The price of labor rose suddenly from 50 centavos to two pesos or more a day, an increase of 400 per cent. It no longer paid to sell pulque at the old price. Taxes and licenses were doubled and redoubled on the pulque shops, with the natural result that many of them were driven out of business. Now only those which pay a special tax are allowed to keep open on Sundays. This closes up the greater number of the pulquerias that have weathered the storm. Even those which do keep open appear quite peaceful compared with those of the olden days, not so long ago, when the peon's chief occupation in life was to get drunk as soon as possible on Saturday evening and to remain in that condition throughout Sunday, and, in many cases, the following Monday. So much had this custom become a part of the national character throughout many centuries that the peon and the middle class had come to call Monday Saint Monday (a sort of native Bacchus), though there never was such a saint of the calendar.

Peons Have Sobered Up.
With pulque retailing at from 10 to 20 cents, where it originally cost from 3 to 6, and the greater number of the pulque shops closed on Sundays, and the former number greatly curtailed on week days, the Mexican peon has sobered up in a manner scarcely believable. Less than 10 years ago drunken peons filled the streets of the capital and the villages and the upland plateaus. On Sunday, with the result that, on Monday morning, the police courts were crowded with drunks, who had done everything to disturb the peace from murder to unseemly quarreling. In 1910 over 70,000 were committed to the central prison of the capital, the greater number of them for offenses rising out of pulque intoxication. This number has been reduced to one-third, though the capital has doubled its population since 1910.

But the city limits have been extended very little in the past decade, and comparatively few new buildings have been erected since then. So that now, with the vast increase in population, the streets of the capital are swarming at practically all hours of the day, with people of all classes of the city.

Due to Circumstances.
No legislation, no conscientious effort at reform, no great temperance movement has brought about this change. It is due to a combination of circumstances, most interesting in the study of the development of a race. In addition to the increased cost of the pulque and the excessive taxes and licenses on pulquerias and maguey plantations, the high cost of living has affected Mexico as it has no other country on the Western hemisphere. Living expenses among the lower and middle classes have risen from 400 to 500 per cent in the past decade.

The revolution has broadened the point of view of the peon; and education has been committed.

BORAH SPEAKS AT OPENING OF DISARMAMENT CAMPAIGN BY WOMEN OF NEW JERSEY

Idaho Senator Reiterates That Secret Diplomacy and Competition in Armaments Are Chief Causes of War.

By Leased Wire From the New York
Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Senator William E. Borah of Idaho spoke before a meeting of the New Jersey State League of Women Voters on the subject of disarmament yesterday at Asbury Park, N. J. The meeting was the first of a series to promote disarmament which are to be held in New Jersey.

Miss Florence Halsey was the presiding officer of the meeting.
Among the speakers were Dr. John Lowejoy Elliott of the Ethical Culture School of New York, who spoke of the war-ravaged children in Europe, and Miss Christine Merriman, who explained the work of the Foreign Policies Association, of which she is a member.

Open Sessions Urged.
The meeting adopted resolutions calling for the presentation of the people at the disarmament conference Nov. 11 and asking that the sessions be opened at all times to the press so that the people might be fully informed of what went on. At a business session it was urged that a woman member be seated at the conference to represent America.

Senator Borah said:
"The two fundamental contributions to the world war were secret diplomacy, or closed and secret international conferences, and competition in armaments. These things had saturated Europe with suspicion, distrust, jealousy, fear and hatred followed the ground for war."

In seeking the cause too much consideration is given the idea that it was deliberately staged and too little consideration to the fact that it was simply the legitimate due of a wretched system and sinister policies of which all the nations were the victims.

"There is nowhere to be found a page of history so void of candor, so divorced of open and fair dealing, so discredited by intrigue and so shameless in duplicity as the story of European diplomacy from the Congress at Berlin to the opening of the fearful tragedy for which, during all these years, leaders and diplomats wittingly, or unwittingly, had been preparing."

No Diplomats Trusted.
"The assassination at Sarajevo was but the match at Sarajevo to the vast magazine of suspicion and hate which the years had built up. In that fatal hour when confidence in leadership was demanded there was not a diplomat in Europe who was not distrusted and no nation whose motives were not questioned. The brutal system had planted distrust in every breast of Europe and leaders and people alike were under its ban."

"Secrecy and battleships, intrigue and armaments, these foreign affairs touch you all."

RESTRICTIONS AKIN TO MARTIAL LAW IN FORCE IN GERMANY

Decree Issued by President Ebert Forbids Any Demonstrations or Utterances of Anti-Republican Nature.

INTERIOR MINISTRY
TO ENFORCE ORDER

Action Backed by Organized Labor and Both the Majority and the Independent Socialists.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Aug. 30.—Germany is today under restrictions closely approaching martial law, as a result of a decree late yesterday by President Ebert. Meetings, processions, demonstrations and the issuance of publications "likely to encourage seditionary movements" were forbidden in the decree and warning was given that "any and every insurrection" would be suppressed with relentless severity.

Majority and Independent Socialists have made formal demand upon Chancellor Wirth that elements responsible for antirepublican activities be restrained by the Government, and organized labor has informed the Chancellor that it is prepared to defend the republic.
The decree issued by the President became effective upon publication and its execution has been placed in the hands of the Ministry of the Interior.

Text of the Decree.

"In a time when the nation's vitality should be devoted to reconstruction of economic injuries inflicted by war," the proclamation said, "unbridled agitation is operating attempting to undermine the political and constitutional foundations on which the new German republic is to be erected."

"The tenor of the press reveals a fixed plan by unscrupulous elements, who are adding to the corruption of constitutional law and order. National emergencies demand that these machinations of unscrupulous and misguided elements be opposed with an iron hand."

"The Government therefore is determined to undertake that which the circumstances of the hour and the provocation of the foes of the constitution make imperative. The Government will proceed with unrelenting severity against any and every insurrection; and it calls upon all organs of law and order to carry out the provisions of this decree firmly and impartially."

German organized labor, comprising 11,000,000 members, belonging to general and independent federations, informed Chancellor Wirth yesterday afternoon that it was ready "to go to the front" in defense of the Republic.

Backed by Socialists.
The majority and independent socialists also informed the Chancellor that both parties demand that the Government proceed without fear or favor against the elements responsible for the anti-Republican demonstrations and machinations "to which the assassination of Herr Ehrberger is attributable."

This deputation demanded in behalf of the radical parties, fundamental reform in the civil service and judiciary "on account of public suspicion, especially of the latter's conduct of cases involving the influence of Democratic principles."

so vitally, say the advocates of the old school, and so deeply, that, while you may be asked to lay down your life in regard to them, yet they are too delicate and too contemptible for your consideration. You must trust your agents. Such a course, such a system, has brought the world to the verge of universal strife and has deluged three-quarters of the globe in war.

"Give us a little more democracy in foreign affairs. It can be no worse than what we have had, and I believe it will be infinitely better. Let those who must bear the burdens and do the suffering know what is being done while it is being done.
Many things done in secrecy will never be done in the open. Pry open the doors of the Congress. Outside things are being done and plans are being made which involve all that you hold dear—your life and the lives of your children."

"Let the sunlight of publicity beat in upon the dark and secret places.
Let us know what's going on before it has been concluded, so that public opinion may have its molding and directing effect. Above all, let responsibility be fixed and then let public opinion lash from power those who betray the great cause."

Old System Has Failed.
"We have reached a crisis in civilization. The old system has failed.

Within the last few months the Remington Typewriter Company has made two noteworthy contributions to typewriter progress.

First, is the improved Self Starting Remington, the sum of 48 years of experience in the manufacture of writing machines. Second, is the wonderful Remington Portable which fits in a case only 4 inches high and is especially designed for the traveling man, field engineer, author, minister, school boy and girl and in fact anyone who has casual writing to do.

The improved bears the name of the improvements in new machine Remington appears of Remington these include years has been the Remington.

The crowning triumph of the improved Self Starting Remington is the quality of its work. It is not only beautiful in originals and carbon but it is consistently good under all circumstances. The check against every kind of mis-operation are so complete that the machine seems bound to turn out good work no matter how operated. The improved Self Starting Remington is a machine for the expert but not the expert alone. It is certain to have exceptional popularity with the student, beginner and the novice, because it helps them to turn out good, acceptable work from the very outset.

The changes in the type bar of the improved Self Starting Remington and its adjustments are numerous, including a slotted segment, avail and type guide. The action of the type bar is scientifically balanced.

Already many thousands of these latest Remingtons have been sold and everywhere the buyers are enthusiastic. All agree that the improved Self Starting Remington and the Remington Portable are new standards of efficiency in the two most important fields of typewriter service.

The fact that the Remington Portable Typewriter has the standard keyboard has already insured its exceptional popularity. It has the same number of printing keys, same size, same arrangement, as any standard machine. This means that from the operator's standpoint it is exactly like the standard machine. The user of a standard machine has nothing new to learn and the user of a Remington Portable has nothing to unlearn.

It has been improved in many particulars. The type bar is the initial type printing point with and from Remington equalled any writing of the Remington self-starting machine of this has copies.

AMERICAN PRISON FAMOUS AS PLAGUE SPOT

Condition of 1200 Persons in Prison at Bellem Institution Greatly Improved.

The importance of being pretty.

Many a girl is brilliant and interesting without being popular simply because she seems to lack personal charm. A good complexion would make this same girl really pretty and as much admired as more beautiful girl friends.

For every woman passes as pretty if only her skin is fresh, smooth and young. It is within the power of every woman to possess this attraction—to make her complexion as beautiful as she longs for it to be.

The secret? Cleopatra knew and practiced it in the days of ancient Egypt. Today we use her favorite cosmetics and follow her method.

What your skin needs

If you knew the delicate structure of the skin and the important work it has to do you would realize what conscientious care it needs.

The tiny pores and cells must be kept active, or dangerous sluggishness soon results. Accumulations of oil, perspiration combined with dirt, clog the skin and blackheads and blemishes result.

Powder, cold cream or rouge may help conceal this condition, but a thorough cleansing every day is the only cure. It will start your skin to work again and help it do its own beautiful. Smoothness and a charming natural color will soon reward you.

After you have washed your face—that is the time to use cold cream. Then it is very beneficial. Powder and rouge are perfectly harmless if removed before you sleep.

To use Palmolive is not an extravagance, as is that of many modern luxuries. The millions who are using it have helped us reduce the price

BORAH SPEAKS ON DISARMAMENT IN NEW JERSEY

who has not the courage to boldly lead out in a new plan will not keep your burdens and will not keep you from war. Disarmament will be a delusion, a fraud, veneered with tepid purposes and false promises unless there is found demanding a social and moral revolution. It will come only at the command of the people, united and determined, persistent and untiring. It is your fight.

The first step has been taken—a conference has been called. It is no reflection upon anyone to say that first step would not have been taken save for the commanding voice of public opinion. And that conference will accomplish nothing of real and substantial worth, except it be directed and dominated by the same commanding voice.

In the name of the dead upon a thousand battlefields; in the name of the countless millions bending under the crushing burdens of war; in the name of the maimed and wounded who crowd our streets and hospitals; and in the name of all who hereafter are to inherit the earth, let us not lose interest, let us not give up hope, rather, let us, as a people, resolve that the conference shall not fail, that our hearts and hopes and prayers will brace and direct, yes, command, the men who have this fearful responsibility resting upon them.

Furthermore, we should keep our minds and purposes fixed upon the main cause, to wit, disarmament. It is said that in order to have peace and disarmament we must first remove the causes of war. I agree; we must remove the causes of war in so far as we can. Let us begin, however, with the most prolific cause of war, incitement to war, a constant invitation to war, always a temptation to war, to wit, huge navies—competition in naval armaments. There is no cause of war so imminent, so commanding, as this. An armed community is a lawless and fighting community. It is a community in which life is considered of little value and murder an attribute of leadership. An armed world is a fighting world.

"Questions of difference, matters of misunderstanding, which could and would easily yield to solution and settlement between unarmed peoples, would easily lead to war between nations thoroughly armed—when great navies are close at hand and seeking glory. By all means remove the causes of war, but begin at the right place.

"It is simply a question whether these matters, which inevitably arise and will year by year arise, will be settled under the shadow of great guns, or whether we will sink the guns and settle these matters in the court of reason and under the guidance of an enlightened and dispassionate public opinion. If we should settle every question tonight which now disturbs the Far East, tomorrow there would be another set of questions, other differences would have arisen.

Differences Will Continue.
"So long as nations rise and fall, so long as people are imbued with a national spirit and are of different races, so long as commercial rivalry obtains there will be differences between nations, nations will have controversies. We can never hope to settle them and see no more arise. But suppose that every battleship which Japan has was at the bottom of the sea; suppose that every battleship, those obsolete floating palaces which we are building, was at the bottom of the sea and likewise every battleship belonging to Great Britain was at the bottom of the sea, would the United States, Great Britain and Japan be any less fitted to sit down and discuss Japan or to discuss the liberation of China? Would either or any of the Powers be less secure; indeed would not reason and justice and right be more likely to prevail?

"The most hoary-headed lie which ever tempted the human race is the old worn-out lie—proved false a thousand times—that great armies and great navies are assurances of peace. It ought not longer to vex the ears of the people or disgrace the lips of leaders. Armies and navies are instruments to war; are in fact, if we judge the future by the past, assurances of war. As Gen. Smuts, the finest mind and the best heart in Europe at least uncovered by the lips of leaders. Armies and navies are instruments to war; are in fact, if we judge the future by the past, assurances of war. As Gen. Smuts, to use it."

$5100 in Prizes

To a thousand people we will pay $5 each for a few minutes' thought. To at least one other we will pay $100. Read how easily it can be done.

THE Editors of The Red Book Magazine believe that frequently it is possible to obtain better titles for short stories and novels than those provided by the authors. Often, among the thousands and thousands of readers, better titles are thought out.

We are now in the midst of such a discussion. It arose when "Souls for Sale," the new novel by Rupert Hughes commencing in the September number of The Red Book Magazine, was considered. It was not easy for us to agree upon this title.

We thought that it was possible to obtain a better title. But Mr. Hughes maintained that after months of search, "Souls for Sale" was the only appropriate title.

There is only one way to test our point. We believe that there are enough alert minds ready to help in demonstrating that often better titles can be obtained through suggestions.

Open to All

So we have provided a fund of $5,100 to be paid for titles for another story appearing in the September issue of The Red Book Magazine.

The story, by that famous writer, Percival Gibbon, is now called "Touching Pitch"—appearing in the same issue as "Souls for Sale."

We ask you to submit what you consider a better title. Send it by letter or merely write it on a post-card, with your name and address at the top. Out of all the titles submitted we will select the best one thousand and for these we will pay $5 each (only one title can be submitted by each person). For the one we consider supreme, we will pay $100. In the event the title considered supreme has been submitted by more than one the $100 prize will be paid in each instance. Thus, for instance, if four (or more) contestants should submit the title which is considered best of all, each one of the successful contestants will receive the full prize of $100.

Here is the story of "Touching Pitch" in a nut-shell:

Sir John Wotton, on a trip to America, witnesses an heroic rescue of a child overboard by a young passenger whose name he discovers is Skinner. Later in a London restaurant he comes upon a group of dissolute young men who are congratulating one of their number on the heroic rescue he is reported to have made at sea. The young man himself does not deny the fact, whereupon Sir John Wotton declares to them that the man with them is not the person who rescued the child. At that instant Skinner himself appears in the restaurant. He explains that he loved the dissolute young man's ill sister, who had no knowledge of her brother's worthlessness. He had impersonated her brother in a criminal action and had confessed to lies in order that the sick girl's abounding faith in her worthless brother might not be destroyed. But he loses the girl's love, even after all his sacrifices.

Easy to Earn

Simply think up what you consider a better title than "Touching Pitch." It is not a difficult task. We want to prove that thousands of folks have good ideas for titles. That is why we offer $5 each for the best 1,000 of the titles submitted and $100 for the best one (or $100 each to those submitting the best one if the title deemed supreme is submitted by more than one person).

Checks will be mailed on October 1st to the successful participants. This means that on October 1st we will mail checks aggregating at least $5,100 (more if the supreme title is submitted by more than one) to the successful contestants. Names of those who submit the winning titles will be published in the November Red Book Magazine—on sale October 23.

All titles must be in our office by September 20th, 1921. Any received later cannot be considered.

Address your title to Title Editor, The Red Book Magazine, 36 S. State St., Chicago.

"Souls For Sale"

A girl's redemption through acting in the movies

Rupert Hughes' master novel commences in the September Red Book Magazine

Not merely as a startling revelation of real life in California's inner circle of movie-land, but as the most searching, the most illuminating study of a girl's soul life; such is the thrill and absorbing fascination of Rupert Hughes' newest and greatest novel.

The intimate adventures of Remember Steddon—her birth in a small mid-west town, her narrow life as a clergyman's daughter, her rebellion at hated conventions, her life amidst Hollywood's movie stars—all lead to an amazing climax.

Human Frailty and Strength

You come to know this all-too-human girl, to pity her, then admire her. How she becomes a great woman, in spite of obstacles, is brought about by a means never before employed by a novelist. No more tremendous emotional experiences ever fell to the lot of a girl than are hers. To her there is but one thought, one hope, one prayer—Redemption.

No truer nor more intimate revelation of a struggling conscience can be conceived. Nothing else that Rupert Hughes has ever written possesses the soul-searching qualities of this master-story.

An Eternal Question

From the first page, in which Remember's clergyman-father unlooses his wrath against the inquiries of the film, until the end, wherein the film themselves provide the means of his own daughter's remarkable rehabilitation, it is a story that you and two million others will read with deepest interest and concern. It promises to be the most discussed novel of the year.

For it brings out anew the theme of two thousand years' discussion: Can Good Come Out of Evil—Can Right Emerge from Wrong?

Buy your copy of the September Red Book Magazine NOW, so that you can read the strange beginning of Remember Steddon's astonishing career. The supply is bound to be exhausted early.

U. S.-HUNGARY PEACE TREATY IS SIGNED

Foreign Minister Banfy and Grant Smith, American Commissioner, Attach Signatures.

By the Associated Press.
BUDAPEST, Aug. 26.—The treaty of peace between the United States and Hungary was signed here yesterday afternoon by Foreign Minister Banfy and Grant Smith, United States Commissioner here.

The treaty was signed in the palace occupied by the American mission at 6 p. m. After the signatures were affixed, Smith and Minister Banfy shook hands cordially, Smith voicing the satisfaction of the United States that friendly relations between the two countries had been re-established. Replying, Minister Banfy said the conclusion of peace would considerably strengthen the friendship already existing between the two nations.

The peace treaty signed in Budapest brings to an end the technical state of war between the United States and the countries formerly constituting the Central empires of Europe. On Wednesday last, a treaty was signed in Vienna by representatives of the United States and Austria, and the following day a peace convention was executed in Berlin by the United States and Germany.

No details of the peace accord entered into with Austria have yet been made public, but it is understood that the Austrian and Hungarian conventions follow closely the lines of the treaty with Germany, which was made public the day of its signature.

SPONSOR OF PEACE ARCH WILL PRESENT REPORT ON ITS ORIGIN

Portal at Blaine, Wash., to Be Dedicated Sept. 6 to Celebrate 100 Years of Peace With Britain.

By the Associated Press.
BELLICHAM, Wash., Aug. 26.—Samuel Hill of Seattle, sponsor of the peace arch at Blaine, erected primarily to celebrate 100 years of peace between the United States and Great Britain, will go to Washington in November to present a report on the origin and history of the peace arch to the disarmament conference called by President Harding. It was announced at the meeting of the Rotary Club here yesterday. The suggestion to Hill was made by the club in the form of a resolution. In his talk Hill told of a plan to have flags unfurled in all cities on both sides of the border line between Canada and the United States from the Atlantic to the Pacific at 2 p. m. Pacific time, Sept. 6, when the peace portal will be formally dedicated.

KU KLUX KLAN INQUIRY STARTED IN CHICAGO

Assistant Federal Attorney Announces He Will Investigate the Order.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—The motive of the Ku Klux Klan is being sought here today in a Federal investigation of the organization instituted by John Clinin, Assistant United States District Attorney. Complaints received during the last three weeks form the basis for the inquiry, Clinin said.

He asserted he would investigate allegations that the Klan is an "absolute monarchy," opposed to public policy; that it collects $10 yearly from each member with apparently no accounting; that it charges $6.50 for regalia costing less than $2, thus being a corporation operating for profit and that numerous lawless acts have been ascribed to persons acting under the guise of the Klan.

"I have received complaints not only locally but from many parts of the country for many days about the Klan," Clinin said. "I am going to investigate the whole order. My first move has been to procure a copy of the charter under which the organization operates and various data which has been furnished to me by persons not members."

The Klan initiated about 2000 Chicagoans three weeks ago.

MAN WHO USES CHLOROFORM ON ABSCESS TOOTH DIES

Arthur D. Baldwin, a Printer, Expires From Dilatation of Heart After Trying to Ease Pain.

An inquest will be held today into the case of Arthur D. Baldwin, 40 years old, of Austin, Tex., a printer, who had lived at the New Christian Hotel, Eighth and Market streets, and who died at the Physicians and Surgeons Hospital, Taylor and Market avenues, at 1 p. m. yesterday from dilatation of the heart, due, doctors said, to the use of chloroform to ease the pain from an abscessed tooth. The police were told Baldwin had also used morphine.

Baldwin was taken from his hotel to the hospital last Saturday, when the clerk called a doctor at Baldwin's request. The clerk said Baldwin had complained of the pain in the tooth for a week and had told of using the chloroform to ease the pain.

GIRLS! LEMONS WHITEN SKIN AND BLEACH FRECKLES

Recipe for Bleaching Lotion Which Does Not Irritate.

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of harmless and delightful lemon bleach. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day, then shortly note the beauty and whiteness of your skin.

Famous stage beauties use this lemon lotion to bleach and bring that soft, clear, rosy-white complexion, also as a freckle, sunburn, and tan bleach because it doesn't irritate.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight for the public welfare, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Building Has Declined.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

"UNION MAN" lays the blame for the unemployment to the officials of the Building Trades Council. It would take a book to determine the cause of the subject under discussion, but does he really know that building has been on a rapid decline since 1917, going lower every year, not only in St. Louis but also in open shop cities where they have no Building Trades Council to hamper? Does he know that the same cry has been used for quite a few years now and the Building Trades Council in two pretty large Western cities "nailed" that lie by agreeing to a cut of about 40 per cent in wages for three months? If in that time building increased the cut was to stay, if not, they would go back to the old scale. I am sorry to say building did not increase at all and they went back to the old scale. Would Union Man let us know how much building is going on in the open shop towns? Also let us hear from him once more under his own name.

Mother Says to Bob It.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

GIRLS, take my advice and bob your hair. Since having mine bobbed, I've been able to have my scalp easily treated for dandruff and my hair is twice as thick and luxuriant as before. My mother says that if she had bobbed her hair a few years ago instead of wearing the rate and puffs that were the fashion, she would have better-looking hair now, with more life and color, and it sure sounds reasonable. If it's straight, though, be sure to keep it at that makes all the difference in the world and I can't blame some people for kicking about the straight, stringy kind. But it certainly is practical and I never felt so sanitary in all my life.

A BOOSTER.

The Jay-Driver.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I WOULD like to ask "A Driver" why they put horns on automobiles. It is true we have jay-walkers and thoughtless people, but some of these thoughtless people are in the autos. Let Mr. Driver try walking across busy streets and see how much jay-walking there is to it. I am a driver also; have driven four years and never had an accident. I always drive at a reasonable speed. I notice many drive around me at great speed. They're the chaps that have the accidents. We have 770,000 people in St. Louis. About 700,000 have no autos, but they are expected to jump and dodge the 70,000 who have cars. Be reasonable. Give the one on foot a chance. The jay-driver is far more dangerous than the jay-walker.

ALSO A DRIVER.

Our Vacationing President.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

IT really is getting on the people's nerves to see the way the people's choice, Mr. Harding, is going on one vacation after another. Is he running away from his work? I think he is afraid his job is too big for him, and Mr. Hughes is really our President. That is the opinion of a good many people. Mr. Harding should get down to work. People are out of work, hungry and poor, waiting for times to change, and the President to keep at least some of his promises instead of running around the country every place he is invited. For the short time he has held office, he doesn't need a vacation. My husband is out of work, first time in eight years. Can't Mr. Harding take some examples from ex-President Wilson? He was on the job for the workingman. People never lived so well as under his administration. If I had not saved a little then we would be out on the street now, and so would a whole lot more.

MRS. A. R. KINSEY.

Women as Office Managers.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

"INDIGNANT" attitude on bobbed hair may be all right, perhaps, but why bother about the "dour-faced" old maids in charge of offices? There are quite a few of us in charge of offices who are neither "dour-faced" nor old, but speaking in behalf of those that are and possibly will be, they must be decidedly more efficient and cheaper than men or the cold-blooded business man would not hire them. Another thing, why didn't some of these old bachelors who are running around pretending to be gay, young dogs, marry these girls before they became "dour-faced"? Order, method, neatness and economy must be enforced in an office. Surely they would have been capable of doing the same in a home! I know my sex well enough to say that we are all ready and willing to marry a good, clean man if he materializes, but do you blame the sensible ones that hold good positions for not taking just anything that looks like a man? You say, "Give me the bobbed-haired wife and mother." Have you taken notice that the bobbed-haired woman is often a wife, but seldom a mother?

ALSO INDIGNANT.

A RAILROAD WAR CLOUD.

There is a vital difference between the two referendums being taken by the railroad employees on the Railroad Labor Board's $400,000,000 wage reduction order.

The joint ballot which is being voted by four of the railroad unions—the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, the Order of Railway Conductors and the Switchmen—provides for, or rather permits of, another attempt at a peaceful adjustment of the question, should the majority vote against accepting the reduction. The Order of Trainmen is using a separate ballot, which excludes further effort at peaceful settlement and is, in effect, a strike vote. Should the majority of the trainmen reject the reduction, the decision will be an order to strike. Unless the conservative attitude of the other organizations prevail an adverse vote by the trainmen will junk the elaborate machinery created by the Esch-Cummings act for adjusting differences between the transportation companies and their employees and plunge the country into the horrors of a general railroad strike.

The trainmen's construction of their rights under the Esch-Cummings act is sound. The phraseology of the act does not obligate the parties to accept the rulings of the board, though such acceptance was anticipated in view of the tribunals established for reaching a just decision and the ample opportunity afforded both parties for submitting all the facts in support of their claims.

The provision of the act in question reads: "All the decisions of the Labor Board in respect to wages or salaries and of the Labor Board or an Adjustment Board in respect to working conditions of employees or subordinate officials of carriers shall establish rates of wages and standards of working conditions which in the opinion of the board are just and reasonable." The privilege of striking, therefore, is not denied, and the trainmen, accordingly, will not be chargeable with violating the law should they resort to the extreme which they are clearly threatening.

It is apparent, too, that a general railroad strike is accounted eventually certain in other railroad union circles, as evidenced by the counsel of the general chairman of the Lackawanna Federation System to the employees of that road: "The time is not ripe for a strike at present," he is quoted as saying, but—"Save your money. Put in a supply of foodstuffs. Fill your coal bins." In other words, prepare for war and bear in mind that it will be war of a desperate character, with cold and hunger leading the assaults against everybody.

Grim enough under any circumstances, this preparatory-for-a-siege advice of the Lackawanna union official becomes a challenge when considered in connection with the trainmen's balloting. In sheer recklessness it corresponds to the attitude of Berlin's junkers in the fateful July days of 1914. But if railroad wage disputes cannot be settled by arbitration, if railroad union leaders should be mad enough to declare war on the American people, if the railroad workers should be mad enough to follow such leadership at a time when there are almost 6,000,000 people out of employment, the consequences will be tragic, but there can only be one end. The railroad labor leaders will lose their war just as surely and decisively as the junkers of Berlin lost theirs.

If Mark Twain could only come back and take a ride on one of our barges he would see some real "life on the Mississippi."

OUR DESTITUTE AND RUSSIA.

Senator France's conclusions from his hurried and limited observations in Russia are: Communism is dead. The Russian people are returning to economic orthodoxy. Lenin has abandoned his dream of a dictatorship of the proletariat and has no such designs on the rest of the world. For the purpose of creating new wealth Russia must have, without delay, an itemized inventory of goods amounting to $360,000,000. Russia needs a credit of $2,000,000,000.

Those conclusions are subject to a certain discount; they confirm views which, in principle, the author had expressed long before he went to Russia. But that does not mean they should be rejected. Further, France does not ask that his word be taken as final. He recommends an exchange of governmental commissions, that the commission from the United States be composed of bankers, transportation men and economists as well as State Department representatives.

If such an endeavor would be the only price required to start the ball rolling for a half-billion dollars' worth of orders in the United States, which would be supplied, of course, only with otherwise idle labor, what argument can be advanced against it? It is up to Washington, if for no other reason than for the sake of the destitute families of idle American working men, to probe to the bottom the possibilities of a new relation with Russia.

WHAT DO YOU MEAN, RECESS?

The German business man probably will not regard a filled order blank as a "scrap of paper."

TWO CLAIMS.

The War Department has rejected the claims of 38,000 former employees of the Bethlehem Steel Co. for some $1,500,000 in back pay promised them by the War Labor Board and vouchered for in a letter over the signature of Assistant Secretary of War Crowell. The steel company was told that it would be compensated by the Government for increases paid in reward for speedier production. As the company failed to pay the increase the new administration, taking advantage of the letter of the transaction, has washed its hands of the claims. Because of present slackness in the steel industry many of the claimants are said to be destitute.

This claim and its rejection assumes a special interest in view of another war claim that is being pressed against the Government. The Ship Construction and Trading Co., to which the Shipping Board recently agreed to sell 205 wooden vessels at $210 apiece, which is less than they would bring as kindling wood, has pending against the Shipping Board a claim for $619,230, which is the unpaid balance of an original claim of $1,852,230.94. For what? For building two of the vessels which it is now buying—205 of them—at $2100 each! Other claims grew out of complications which arose when the Shipping Board took over the company's yards.

Whatever the merits of the claims, persons familiar with Shipping Board matters believe that the machinery alone on the 205 vessels to be taken by the company will more than cover the total price paid. Now it is learned from the offices of a steamship company that it is negotiating for the purchase of 25 of the gift ships, not for kindling wood but for operation as ocean carriers. Another feature is that a clique of Connecticut politicians representing creditors are said to be actively pressing the claims of the company.

Where wage earners, out of work and destitute, are denied substantial claims in the name of economy will such a claim as that filed by the Ship Construction and Trading Co. be allowed?

One advantage of a screen version of "The Four Horsemen" over a stage version is that the management doesn't have to hunt up a livery stable in every town where it is shown.

OUR FAITH IN THE LEAGUE.

Aug. 29, 1921, may take its place among the memorable dates of Geneva's calendar. It assuredly will if the Council of the League of Nations succeeds in solving justly the vexed question of Upper Silesia's boundaries.

Eight nations are represented in the council—Japan, England, France, Italy, Belgium, China, Spain and Brazil. The United States is not present. It is not present in the flesh, but it is there in spirit, despite the hysterical denials of the irreconcilables.

Consider what is at stake. The issue is the future peace of the world. Were the question to be settled according to the selfish, short-sighted opportunism of old diplomacy, the seeds of a future war would inevitably be sown. No such settlement is expected. Least of all is it expected by the absentee nation. The very fact that the United States is not participating in this council testifies most eloquently to our faith in the purpose and ability of the League of Nations to render a just decision in this most difficult case. This mark of confidence is, indeed, a great compliment to the League, however guilty we be of shirking our share of the duties that have come to us as the balance-power of the world.

With a house on every lot the profiteering landlords couldn't make a lot on every house.

Marshal Foch won't have to fight to cross our river.

Russia may now have its doubts about the value of some forms of internationalism, but it is justified in the belief that sympathy for a deluded people knows no bounds of nationalism.

Let us give Lenin his due. He has abolished the dress suit in Russia.

We and Germany are outside the League of Nations.

MR. ANTWERP'S OPINION.

"ALL Missourians must be gratified by the beginning which our own fellow citizen, Mr. E. Mont Rely, has made as Governor of Porto Rico," Mr. Antwerp said.

It is not often that we have anyone in a foreign quarter who expresses the American idea as precisely as this Missourian has just expressed it in Porto Rico when he says that he will not recommend for appointment to public place any Porto Rican who is for independence.

"I looked for a while as if the administration might have to get a Democrat to express our in other parts of the world exactly the thing for which our own country stands, but we seem to have found our man in the new Governor of Porto Rico.

"If there are persons who were not entirely familiar with our ideals, or who found the scholastic construction of Mr. Wilson a little difficult, they must have gained something of a liberal education upon the subject since George Harvey and E. Mont Rely cut loose in their after-dinner clothes and showed everybody what wild asses' colts we have set at large. We went into the war to save our skins, and Mr. Rely advises the Porto Ricans to put away all thoughts of independence. In other words, that was all a bluff about fighting to make the world safe for democracy; and we are in Porto Rico until someone bigger than we are puts us out."

"I knew that George Harvey had some ideas not entirely consonant with those of Mr. Wilson; but it is a surprise to me that even one person in Missouri has felt that the Porto Ricans ought not to think of independence. I imagined that if we took a plebiscite on the question in Missouri there would be a practically unanimous vote for giving complete independence both to the Philippines and Porto Rico.

"This is the sort of thing which makes Latin America distrust us. Horror! Maybe she knows us better than we know ourselves. Maybe she knew there was an E. Mont Rely. We certainly didn't, and we are sorry there is. We apologize for him to Porto Rico."

One of our readers says he is a convert to our view of prohibition and therefore gives up all hope of doing anything with humankind, which he finds incorrigible. We are glad to have converted somebody to rationalism on this subject, but we do not share our reader's despair of humankind. In the course of history there have been many times when the masses have conformed to laws which were not felt by the mass of humankind to have been designed for the common good so much as to express the narrowness of a cult. A great many people have been put to death because they resisted what has long been abandoned as of no importance to human progress. This happened all along the Mediterranean; it reached its zenith during the Inquisition. Cotton Mather, whose life summed up Puritanism and its extremes, seems to us now a ridiculous fanatic because what Cotton thought necessary for our salvation nobody any longer thinks. Just a Minute does not despair of humankind because the Volstead law cannot be made effective without violating the constitutional inviolability of our homes. It thinks the mass of humankind is a good judge of what is best for it, though sometimes opposing its judgment to that of many sincere and zealous people. The evils of liquor seem as bad to us now as when the witchcraft seemed to most people for a long time, since while we no longer put anyone to death for drinking it the death penalty was commonly inflicted for a long time over a considerable part of the world upon the score of witchcraft. Just a Minute believes that liquor is a blessing, and that the evil of liquor, but it does not believe that we are going to rid ourselves of them by outlawing liquor. We have only introduced other and perhaps worse evils to take their place. The liquor we have now is worse than the liquor we used to have, and the liquor man we formerly had was a gentleman and a scholar in comparison with the liquor man we have now. The dregs are stuck where every cult wishing to make effect a law without sufficient public sentiment behind it has always stuck. They want Congress to give them the right to invade our homes without warrants, and Congress has always refused that right. The dregs say that except this weapon they cannot make prohibition effective, which is an admission of its constitutional impracticability. That is, all the facilities we have ever had for enforcing laws are not enough effectively to enforce prohibition. This is all we have said. We have never said that liquor is a blessing, and we have never charged the dregs with anything worse than trying to make us something we are not. We have come to an interesting pass in the matter, and Just a Minute sees, or thinks it sees, what is going to happen next. It will not be the first time humankind escaped from the clutches of those who wished to do it for its own good something it neither cared to have done for it nor believed would improve it. Certainly we can vision prophesied by prior belief. We urge calm on our reader, and pledge calm for ourselves.

SOUVENIR.

To Nathalie.

I HAVE gone far from you.

Yet not so far;

A song will still recall you—

A falling star.

Sometimes the streets will glisten

With sparkling rain—

And I will sense you walking

With me again.

We have been long parted,

Yet not so long;

Sometimes I will remember

And send a song.

ANALYTIKOS.

The MIRROR OF PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to reproduce within the latest compass by the leading public opinion newspapers and periodicals on the questions of the day.

RICH DRINKING TOO MUCH.

Robert Morris in the New Republic.

THERE is more prohibition in the country than in the city—in Kansas than in New York. But the profitable line of division between discussion proves to be that between the upper and the lower classes. On the whole, it is a generalization to say that if prohibition has been the drinking of the poor it has amazingly increased that of the rich. Liquor has been almost a prominent sign of that conspicuous waste upon which Mr. Veblen finds that the position of the leisure class depends; and whereas formerly this prestige was a matter largely of conspicuous consumption and was expressed in qualitative considerations, in the present situation such fine-spun distinctions have been lost sight of and quantity counts. Hence, whereas a single cocktail used to be an appropriate aperitif, now the hostess is blackballed who does not serve three or four. Similarly a dance could be floated on a supply of liquor which would nowadays be accounted stingy. Whether or not the poor are drinking too little, it is certain that the rich are drinking too much.

"OPEN COVENANTS"

From the New York Tribune.

TO SEE today two such implacable and virulent enemies as Senators Borah and Johnson, discussing "open covenants" openly arrived at "out" of the Wilson scrap heap must surely cause admiration to some of the former President's friends. Do they think the gulfed can be gulfed again, or do they merely supporting a movement for the withdrawal of public opinion? Both of these gentlemen have had some experience in life and must realize that in all negotiations claims are advanced and remarks are made in the preliminary stages which are open to so much misinterpretation that publication at the time might endanger the success of the whole enterprise. While minor misunderstandings are being adjusted there is to lose and little to gain by too open publicity. But beyond the preliminary negotiations there is a line, difficult to locate, on the other side of which it may well be said that publicity benefits the cause. The public opinion of the world must be kept well informed as to the progress of the disarmament conference, and business done must be done openly in so far as this can possibly be done without prejudicing the success of the conference. There is a medium between secret diplomacy and open publicity. In the present case it is the latter rather than the principle that must be the object of this object is the successful outcome of the conference.

GOVERNMENT'S PRINTING BILL.

From the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

THE Government printing bill before the Senate was about $7,000,000, and now, nearly two years after the fighting ceased, it is practically double the pre-war sum. It is claimed at Washington that the condition of the Federal Government makes it imperative that airplane protection forests be abandoned. Why not a little part of the print shop? Most Government publications are not read; or, at most, are read but little. The average pamphlet or report goes directly from the waste-basket. The Congressional "blue book" print" costs the taxpayers a roll of money. When the war was on and there was need of keeping the public spirit keyed to concert pitch, there was little complaint at the Government's big print bill. That need no longer exist. President Harding being a printer himself ought to be informed in this particular Federal extravagance. When compared with billion totals the possible savings here may be small, but Director Dawes cannot afford saving an insignificant half dozen millions or so.

Fall of the Week Is Secluded Sweater and Skirt and Hat.

By MARGUERITE MAR

THE most popular fashion for women's dress were belted sweaters by week and belted skirts in the book of fashion. Some fashion's best outfit which included belted sweater, a short skirt and a certain type of leghorn with brown band. It is the same hat now wearing except that the band is pulled up down back as they pull it down.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY
By James J. Montague.

MAUDE AND THE JUDGE.

Maud Muller, on a summer's day,
Was seated on a fence just this side of the Canadian line.
Beneath her straw hat glowed the wealth
Of a quart of Scotch, which she had deftly concealed there.
The Judge rode slowly up the lane,
Having heard that there was hooch to be had in the neighborhood.
He drew his bridle in the shade
And looked meaningly at Maud.
She stooped where the cool spring bubbled up, Poured out a shot, added a little water, and handed it to the jurist.
"Thanks," said the Judge, "a sweeter draught
From a fairer hand was never quaffed."
Then Maud forgot her briar-torn gown,
And said, "What do you mean, 'Thanks'? Cut out the jolly and hand over six simoleans!"
But the proud man sighed with secret pain,
Having but three bucks at the time in his jeans.
While from Sweet Maud Muller's hazel eyes, Extended a comic picture dotted line to the Judge's car. Incidentally she sang out "Paw!"
The Judge looked back as he climbed the hill (On foot, for Paw had taken the car in payment for the hooch).
"Would she were mine, and I today Could live up here where they are close to the underground," he murmured.
For of all sad words of tongue or pen
The saddest are these: "Booze does me high."
NO CINCH. WHERE ARE THEY?
Steam laundries, it is reported, do not kill germs, but from the looks of the output the germs must know they're been in a battle when they come out of one.

A lot of comic artists whose work has not been seen lately are probably engaged in making sculptures for church interiors.
